They moved in the house on August 5, 1872. This date is in the glass over the door behind them. Mary (Mayme) was the only child born in the house and appears to be around 20 in the picture. It possibly was taken around 1892. Mary Ann McHaffie died in 1897.

I believe it was called Forest Home Stock Farm by son, Ernest. His daughter, Ernestine was my mother, Mary Virginia's mother. Melville's father was Andrew McHaffie, who first came to Indiana. Andrew's father was John McHaffie who appears to have been a Revoluionary War soldier according to your County records. I would like to know more about him.

I do have more information about Mary Ann Thomas McHaffie if you would like that. Her father was Jonathan Thomas and her mother was Catherine Ulrich Thomas and they were from Penn. Last week I saw records of the Mormon Church that arepossibly related to them. They were baptismal records -- Cataria Ulrich, Lebanon C. June 1809 and Jonathan Thomas, Phil, Pa. bp. April 21, 1803. This will take some more checking. If you know anyone who has information to share I would appreciate it if you would give them my name and address. Please let me know if you need any more specifics than what I sent or you have in your records.

We took pictures of the home when we were up there last month and were so sorry to see it just falling down. It would have been so beautiful restored. Janet Ingram

Family History as Written by Madaffie Minnie Ines Fall Pasters - Born May 8, 1858 Shire Sister of Ernest - Waffie

My Grandfather's Aistory

Andrew E. McMaffie - "Scotch Irish" - Virginian by birth.
Born February 16, 1798. Died October 17, 1863.
He had three brothers and two sisters.

John McHaffle, born 1794. Died February 26, 1834 - age 40 years, 11 bonths. Married Betsy Dyer. Both are buried in the Stilesville cemetery. John, just north and one row west of grandfather. Aunt Betsy buried in the Munter lot. Three children, they had.

Aunt Sarah married a Davidson. Aunt Ma rearried Malmer Munter; twelve children were theire - all died early in their lives. Aunt Orlens married Andrew Evans; one son, Evander.

Grandfather's sister, Margaret, married William Dunnington (buried west of Grandfather's lot - by the big cedar tree, by husband). She was born August 31, 1818. Died November 23, 1857. No family.

Jim McBaffle - went to Texas in early days, and died there. Pive children.

Mag Gordon. Ellen Scott. Frank. "Elwood died in the Civil Wer."

Mary Ellen Johnson. (All dead.)

Rachel, grandfather's elster, married Thomasy Ward. A large family; all buried in the lot west of where grandfather is buried. No markers.

Robert, a brother, lived and died in Owen County. A school there was the McHaffle School House. I know little of Hobert's family. He is buried in Owen County.

My grandfather case to Indiana in 1830 - with his brothers and elsters and families from Knexville, Tennessee. He was married in Knexville to Mancy Woods; born April 1805; died April 1830. They were married in April 1823. April carried birth, marriage and death.

After her death grandfather emigrated to Indiana in 1830, entered land and built a cabin west of Stilesville and little east of the present Coatesville road. His children, Emaline, Melville and Jammie (died at age of 12, buried by grandfather in lot) were cared for by Aunt Betsy Dyer McHaffie and husband John.

In 1839 Grandfather returned to Tennessee and married Mancy Kilbourn.

They rode horseback back to Indiana. To grandfather's marriage one child,

Mary Angeline, was born June 15, 1840; died January 5, 1902; buried in Stilesville cemetery.

Aunt Realine was married to William Robards, at age of 16. Born October 22, 1824; died June 3, 1890. Melville Fitzallen McHaffie; born December 27, 1826; died May 27, 1914. Aunt Mary married Harve Lee. They moved after grandfather's death to Arkaneas, about 1878. Grandmother died and is buried at Carlyle, Arkaneas, in 1880.

Aunt Mary Lee had three boys. Ed, died of heart attack (single), Jim. buried in Stilesville. Charlie, killed in city on street by auto, left a wife. Is buried at Crown Mill.

To that union was born Joe, John, Almira, Francis, Crarlie and Mute. Joe was a soldier in the four year war; later worked on the Indianapolis Journal; later the "News" / John was drowned on the Missouri river while on a fishing trip; buried in Illinois.

 Joe died in 1879 - in M.E. Enspital; is buried by his sother, Jim Alexander in 1865 and lived in Edinburg, Illinois; both are buried there; had 7 children. Aunt Frances married Ike Logan who died in Colorado when her two children, Sara and Charlie, were both small; Aunt Frances died in 1918. Uncle Nute had a large family; lived and died in State of Washington. Charlie had one son, a fine musician; Charlie lived and died in Emporia, Kansas.

These were my mother's half brothers and sister

Catherine UlrichThomas Long and marriage after Jonathan Thomas died.

Grandmother and Grandfather Long came to this State. Grandmother had money.

They bought the land now owned by Mary Vaughn, bought by Mary's father Josholin Fastee about 1866. Grandfather Long was a German, very jovial.

Wore a plug hat, and "put on style". He, with his children, went to Illinois after the war and is buried at Mason City, Illinois.

My mother married my father, Melville Fitzallen McHaffie, August 15, 1850.

Mother was 18 when grandfather Long brought father into the home and introduced them. Mother was on the floor, cutting out a little pair of pants for one of the children. "It was love at first sight, as mother was 20 in July, married on August 15, 1850. They were married by Uncle Towny Lockhart at Putmanville, by a Christian minister. They rode horseback. They lived with grandfather McHaffie until March of '51. Then began housekeeping at the home, a two-story brick of four rooms, two below and two above, with hall and stairway, and a stairway out of the living room.

A frame kitchen to the north, later a backporch from the hall and a bedroom to the east were added. In that home nine children were born:

Plorence Alice, born May 30, 1851; died 1879. Buried at Crown Bill.
Married to Charlie Bedger. Shirty

Clara Virginia, born April 28, 1853. Married Thomas Boggess of Macon, called Thomas Boggess of Macon, called Thomas Boggess of Macon, Mississippi; died December 5, 1872, at Macon of brain fever and posumonia. Body returned by father; buried in Stilesville cemetery. One child, Bennett, born July 3, 1872; died October 10, 1916. His wife, Maud Moodard Boggess, November 7, (1958) in Mississippi.

George William McHaffie, born February 24, 1856. Married to Eusa Cosner. Two daughters, Katie Cosner and Mary Welville, we've their children.

Minnie Inez Bell, born May 8, 1858, married to Morwood C. Masters, a practicing physician, September 12, 1877. He died August 23, 1902.

Four children: Orion, Eva, Max and Alexander T. were their children.

The youngest, Lex, born Movember 8, 1893; died December 9, 1958; buried on his mother's lot at Stilesville.

Andrew M. born October 7, 1860; died Movember 30, 1877.

Clement lived ly years, the only blue-eyed and light-haired one. Born July 1862. Deed of flux.

Marche, age 3 years, died in 1864 of grey flox.

Saucel Oscar, born April 6, 1868, died November 13, 1927. Married May Leachman; died 1918. One son, Malville J., married Lena Cilbert August 15, 1918. One daughter, Martha E nice, born Jone 24, 1922.

Vernest, born August 26, 1870; died July 25, 1922. Married Anna Green. of Seymour, in 1892. Their children: Ernestine, Robard and Maxine.

Mary Emeline McBaffie Shiel was born October 4, 1872. The only one born in the new house. We moved there August 5, 1872, and Mayrie (Mary Emeline) was born on October 4.

The house was two years building. The brick was burned just east of the house by Sam Minter; the carpenter work done by Sam Swope and others. The stones were hauled by men who dug it near Putnamville. Mother, with help, cooked for 25 men, for dinner and supper and overnight. There were no hour limits. They worked before light and after subst. Ps believed in feeding his men; a full stomach made them contented and they wanted to do their best. There was no limit to food. Sugar, coffee (green) to parch, flour and meal by the 100 lb., vegetables of all kinds raised on the farm, for winter use. Bow proud we all were when we moved in.

In about two weeks threshers came late one night. The family laid on the floor (the children I mean) while 25 men took the beds, and were fed biscult and ham for breakfast, but it was so common those days no one spoke of it. They would thresh for one week. George, Andrew and myself saddled, rode the horses round and round on the barn floor to thresh out the wheat. Yes, I know when I first saw the threshing machine. The men would thresh for a week and live with us then.

After we moved to the new house in May Pa brought a new carriage home from Green Castle. My first question, "Can we go to church?" Yes, indeed.

Two big roan horses, Roany and Mike, were hitched to carriage the following All went to the Baptist Church at town. It was Communion Sunday. Sunday. / I looked out, to see if any of my school nates saw me and were they "green eyed". My mother was a Lutheren by religion, as all Dutch families were. Mother was sprinkled, as that was their belief.

Aunt Sarah Sallust was two years younger than mother; married to William Sallust. Six children were born to them: Jim, Mary, Arthur, Weise, Walt and Clara, all "passed on". Weise died November 27, 1939.

Doom averted for U.S. 40 landmark

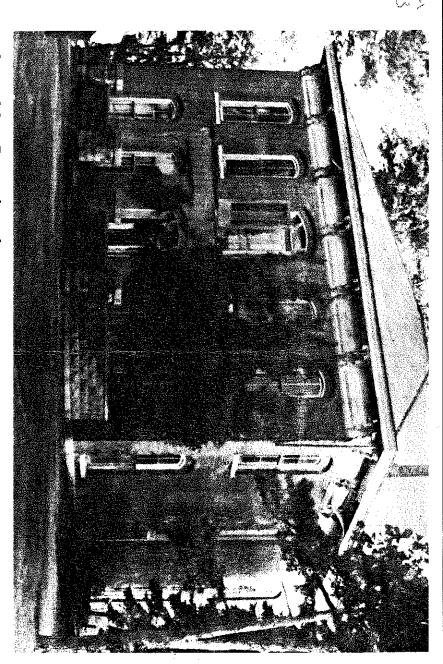

by Charles Niehaus

VERY preservationist feels relief when he sees an important building saved from a seemingly inevitable doom brought on by neglect and indifference. That was certainly my feeling when I learned recently that a majestic old farmhouse which I had known since a boy, and which had stood empty and decaying for many years, had been purchased by someone who intended to preserve it. I was downright elated to hear from the new owners that in fact they are embarking on a long and carefully planned restoration project.

The house is on U.S. 40, the old National Road, in the eastern tip of Putnam County. A large brick, Italianate structure, it is similar to a number of others which used to be seen along the route from Indianapolis to Terre Haute. Now only a very few remain, and most of them are in some stage of serious decay. Built by prosperous farmers in the heyday of traffic along the National Road after the Civil War, they are important as architectural achievements and as a visible link with a vital and dynamic period of our bistory.

The builder of this house was Melville F. VicHaffie, a member of a Scots-Irish family who migrated from Virginia to Tennessee and then to indiana. McHaffie, whose grandfather witnessed the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, was six years old when his father brought his family to Putnam County, Indiana, in 1832. McHaffie grew up on the National Road, helped to clear the way for the road, prospered at farming, banking, and livestock breeding. He became nationally known for his mules, but he also bred high quality race horses on his farm, where he maintained his owr track. He also accumulated hundreds of acres of land in other states.

In 1870, McHaffie built his new house in the Italianate style popular at the time. Foursquare and solid without unnecessary frills or ornamentation, it was the fitting expression of the success and prosperity he had gained through hard work on the land. It cost $12,500, a considerable sum for that day. The bricks for its construction were made on the farm, and the wood—poplar and cherry—was cut there. The brick walls, both interior and exterior, are fifteen inches thick.

Ten rooms, each sixteen feet square, are connected by a massive central stairway made of cherry. Because of this stairway, the new owners have named the house "Rising Hall Manor." The house still has its original slate roof. Three porches have disappeared but will be replaced. A most unusual feature is the brick barn, built in the same style, with three lots, a dozen stalls, and a slate roof.
