Notes for Earl Luther Mynatt:

General Notes:

Earl was a very reserved and gentle man. He went quietly about his business. As his Grandson, I lived next door to him with my Father, Sylvan. I remember him as a person that never showed any emotion toward me. Never kissed or hugged me. Never said anything to me. He died when I was 12 years old.

He was a Carpenter and owned and operated a custom butcher shop. He was respected by others in the community. His carpenter and butcher skills were of the highest quality, which resulted in an endless demand for his work.

In his later years he suffered from prostate cancer and Parkinson's disease. It wrecked his body and he had severe tremors. I remember him sitting on the front porch, shaking so hard he could hardly sit in the chair. In the end it also affected his mind.

Notes for James William Mynatt:

General Notes:

We regret to inform you the telegram read
and our eyes filled with oceans of tears.
It didn't seem right that our Jim was dead
when we had him so many long years.
Why just yesterday he worked in the store here
till the Army called him that day.
With a smile on his face and a tearful goodbye
proudly he marched away.
And though our hearts are lonely for him
we know he's gone to a better place.
