Obituary.

Colonel V. H. Lyon, as will be seen by a special dispatch published elsewhere in today's Sentinel, died yesterday morning at his home, in Plainfield, Indiana, of typhoid fever. Colonel Lyon was well and favorably known in this city. He entered the army at the beginning of the late war in the infantry arm of the service. Afterward he raised a cavalry company for the Ninth Indiana, and at the close of the war was colonel of the regiment. After the war he entered the service of the well-known clothiers of this city, Messrs. Mossler Bros., continuing with them until within the past two years, during the most of which time he was the commercial traveler of a Cincinnati wholesale clothing house. His record as a brave and courageous soldier
stands untarnished, and compares favorably with that of the fairest. After the first enlistment he entered soul and body into the conflict, continuing in the service of his country until the end of the struggle. As an officer, when his comrades mourned he wept; when they were victorious, he rejoiced with them. The fame he won is well deserved. A good-hearted, jovial companpanion; a brave soldier; a loving husband and an affectionate father
is the eulogy of those who know him best. He dies poor in this world's goods, but rich in honesty, truth, friendship, bravery and patriotism. He has gone the way of all the earth. Those who knew him best loved him most. May he rest in peace.

tion of the national greenback labor party assembled at Faneuil hall to-day. There was some delay in calling the convention to order owing to a dispute in the session of the state central committee caused, it was asserted, by the Boston city committee selling out the party to the democrats by making a trade for offices, and by the minority of the committee calling the convention on a basis of club elections, and not on a basis of general caucuses, which threatened to exclude delegates, depriving large unorganized bodies of greenbackers of representation in the convention. It was also alleged that a portion of the state central committee would refuse the gubernatorial nomination to General Butler, unless he made a substantial contribution to the party treasury. Threats of a bolt were freely made prior to organization.

The convention was finally called to order. Israel W. Andrews was elected temporary chairman, and Gen. Horace Binkly Sargent permanent chairman. General Sargent's address was in favor of fiat money, attributing all the business distress of the past six years to contraction, and accused both the press and pulpit of vanity, the latter being on the lowest plain.

Solon Chase was received with great applause. He counseled the party to act with prudence. The committees were appointed and an angry dispute arose on a motion for a recess, which was carried.

Jeremiah De La Matyr.

[Washington special to Cincinnati Commercial.]

Reverend Congressman De La Matyr stopped here on his way home from Maine, and spoke very discouragingly of the future of the greenback party. He claims that the democrats did not carry out their part of the bargain in Maine, while the greenbackers fulfilled their promises faithfully. If the democrats had kept their word the republican ticket would have been defeated. De La Matyr is reading the lamentations of Jeremiah the prophet.

Last night's Star says: "Rev. Gilbert De La Matyr, the greenback congressman from Indiana, who for month stumped in Maine for the greenback ticket, passed through the city last night en route for Indianapolis. Mr. De La Matyr is considerably disgusted over the result, and told more than one with whom he conversed that the greenbackers ought to have polled over sixty thousand votes, and that the leaders confidently expected that they would poll at least that number. He attributes the failure of the greenbackers to a poll that number of votes to the lavish use of money. In fact, he intimated that the money power got its work in on those who berate it as a dangerous element in the body politic, and with a liberal use of money bought their votes. Mr. De La Matyr despairs of the republic."

His postoffice was removed to the depot this afternoon. D. M. Bradbury and Louis Cash are the clerks in charge.

John Wismeyer, the assaulted rolling-mill hand, was considerably worse this morning, and the doctors think that he may not recover. Wombough is still at large.

A lodge of sorrow will be organized in this city by the republicans and Hendricks democrats, as soon as the full returns are in from the New York democratic convention.

Among the indictments returned yesterday was one against Patrolman John J. Weidle, for manslaughter, for killing Martha Farrell, August 12th. Weidle will give bond in the criminal court this afternoon.

Joseph Sheelin, an employe of the Bee Line, had his left thumb badly crushed while shutting the swinging door of a freight car this morning. It was rounded into proper shape for him at the Surgical Institute.

The usual monthly public temperance meeting of the woman's Christian temperance union will be held on Sunday in Fletcher Place M. E. church, at 3:45 p. m. Mrs. L. O. Robinson, of Greencastle, will deliver the address.

Virgil H. Lyon died at his home in Plainfield this morning, of typhoid fever. He was connected at various times with several clothing houses in this city, and when taken sick was travelling for the Cincinnati clothing house. He will be buried to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The attorneys in the Quigg case have placed their brief in the hands of the printers, and will be able to lay it before the supreme court at the beginning of the fall session, next Tuesday. If the court can find time to give the points a careful consideration before Friday no respite will be asked, otherwise one will be applied for.

Postal-clerk Simpkins, on the Panhandle route, was seriously injured at the Urbana collision yesterday; how badly, though, the department officers could not say. The regular through express due here last night tried to pass an east bound passenger train on the same track, with the usual result. The officers of the road will give no particulars of the disaster.

LOGANSPOUT.

Arrest of Three Crooks.

The Sentinel:

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 12.—This morning three young men, who gave their names as William Hall, Frank Nelson and John Smith, were discovered secreted in a box on the Pan-Handle train going to Logansport. On their persons were found three revolvers, over 100 fine pocket knives, a lot of brushes, and other articles. They were questioned as to how they came in possession of the goods, but refused to give any explanation, and were locked up to await the arrival of the sheriff. Yesterday the same parties were taken out of our saloons, and bought two more, paying for them in pennies and nickels. The presumption is that a safe has been burglarized by these scoundrels.

MUNCIE.

Another Bold Robbery.

The Sentinel:

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 12.—The boot and shoe store of G. Graham, of this place, was burglarized last night and the safe robbed of over $500 in cash. The thieves effected their entrance into the store through a window. They then successfully worked their way into the safe until they reached a strong iron box containing the money, which they wrenched from its place by springing it in the lock, thus securing the escape. The safe is a small Mosier & Co. make, and has received no injury. The work was evidently done by some one familiar with the premises and the mechanism.

WILMINGTON, ILLINOIS.

Dropped Dead.

Special to the Sentinel:

Wilmington, Ill., Sept. 12.—This morning George Clark, a business man of this city, while eating his breakfast, dropped dead in his chair. It is supposed his death resulted from heart disease.

Central Committee, Chicago, the Boston city committee party to the Democrats by means of offices, and by the minority of calling the convention on the election and not on the basis caucus, which threatened to caucus delegates, thus depriving organized bodies of Greenback representation in the convention alleged that the position of the committee would refuse the nomination to General Butler a substantial contribution to the party. Threats of a bolt were made to the organization.

The convention was finally called and Israel W. Andrews elected chairman and General Horace A. Tilden permanent chairman. General address was in favor of flat money, all business distress of the past, contraction, and accused both of the pit of venality, the latter being the plan.

Solon Chase was received with applause. He counseled the prudence.

Committees were appointed, a dispute arose on a motion for a vote was carried.

After recess the following were in nomination: For governor, Butler; lieutenant governor, Lips; secretary of state, John P. Whitney; treasurer, Wilbur P. Whitney; J. King; attorney general, Horace A. Tilden.

The resolutions declare that prices can only be secured by uniform relation between value of money, and this can be secured by legal tender paper money.

by the Government; that greenbacks should be substituted for bank notes in circulation; for the date use of coin in the treasury of the bonded debt. They also declared the soldiers and sailors should be as good as the bondholders, and of the contract, honesty, equity and honor require the payment of it.

For 40 cents loaned, it is alike honesty, equity and honor to measure be meted to those who are in the course of the country.

That the truth of the greenback has been grandly vindicated by the two greenback measure of stoppage of contraction in raising of greenbacks to the point at the Custom House. That a progressive tax on incomes should be levied from every source with the total small homesteads, right and with the constitutional rule should be equal; that coin reform is a publican party is a sham by making paper bank notes legal tender.

United States legal tender these notes exchangeable for coin counter in the United States is less than 100; that the hours of shortened, and that the employ children in exhausting labor prevented; that labor-saving is a loan of God's engine of torture to wring out the capital, by bringing labor into competition with muscles.
