SITUATION OF THE ACADEMY.

The Academy has a pleasant location in Plainfield, a town of 1200 inhabitants, 14 miles west of Indianapolis. The well arranged Academy building stands on a campus of seven acres, adjoining The Friends' Park. The town has the advantage of a Citizen's State Bank, two daily mails each way, telegraph, telephone and express offices. Two book stores keep supplies necessary for furnishing books, stationery, etc. Plainfield has four vigorous Churches with well sustained Sabbath Schools, a Union Y. P. S. C. E. Society, and several prayer meetings. The town is noted for its many public and private educational facilities, and the beauty and healthfulness of the situation, together with the morality, temperance, industry, and intelligence of the people,—just the place for parents to make a permanent or temporary home for the education of their children under moral and religious influences.

REMARKS ON INSTRUCTION AND DISCIPLINE.

The course of study has been prepared with the design of giving special drill in the Elementary branches, and in the Academic department three courses of study, Latin, English, and Teachers' are open to students. These courses of study have been prepared with reference to a practical academic education, and the managers desire to make it systematic and thorough.

Attention is given to preparing students for college, and the privilege is given those who desire to be fitted for the Freshman classes in college to receive such instruction as will give them the necessary drill in preparatory studies. Upon the certificate of the Principal that the student has completed the necessary preparatory studies, he is entitled to enter the Freshman class in Earlham College, Wabash College, Purdue, De Pauw, Butler, or State Universities without further examination.

To be admitted into the Grammar School, students must be acquainted with the general outlines of Geography, with elements of English Grammar and with higher Arithmetic through Denominate Numbers.

For aids to instruction, besides globes, maps, geological and anatomical charts, the Academy has an excellent compound microscope, an air pump, Rhumcorff's coil, batteries and chemical apparatus, with a small collection of other illustrations in natural science. There is also in use a Smith's American Manikin and Appendix.

A library of three hundred volumes in the Academy building is free to all the students. Besides many books of general reading, it contains Encyclopedias and other standard works for historical, biographical, classical, geographical and biblical reference. A reading table with leading magazines and newspapers is furnished for use of students.

SCIENCES.

In the study of Chemistry, chemicals and apparatus actually consumed in the individual manipulations of the student shall be paid for by him. Elements of Chemistry will be taught by lectures and experiments performed by the students and teacher. Physiology is studied in conjunction with beautifully illuminated charts, and illustrations made by dissections of Smith's American Manikin as representative of the human body, and special dissections of eye, ear, heart and liver. The elements of Physics is illustrated as far as the ingenuity of the teacher and students can provide apparatus in addition to that already provided in way of Batteries, Rhumkorff's coil and an air pump.

In Natural History the study of insects is made especially interesting with the use of the compound microscope, and in requiring the class to make a collection of insects for illustration, while other specimens are made use of by the teacher.

The spring term affords good opportunities for the study of Botany with Gray's Field and School Book as a guide. During the term each student is required to analyze at least seventy-five flowers which are easily obtained in the vicinity. The class are greatly aided in this by the use of a first-class compound microscope.

We aim at thorough drill in pure mathematics. Supplementary work being given in mensuration, metric system and other subjects in Arithmetic.

Special attention paid to Radicals and Binomial Theory in Algebra, and completion of both plane and solid Geometry is required of each student.

DRAWING.

Drawing is taught from a graded series of carefully selected books and supplemented by other work in both outline and perspective drawing. Each pupil before completing the subject will be required to leave in a neat frame or case a specimen of his work at the Academy as the property of the institution.

The expense for material and means of preservation of specimen drawings to be paid by the students.

LATIN AND LITERATURE.

In teaching Latin it is the design to give pupils the mental drill and discipline which the study of language so well affords, as well as the opportunity of thorough preparation for further work in schools of higher grade or colleges.

The study of Literature includes a general view of English and American authors and their works as gained from the text-book. Various productions of the best authors are read and discussed by the class, as the best means of forming an acquaintance with the authors and a knowledge of good language and literature.

ATTENDANCE AND DISCIPLINE.

Though the institution is under the control of the Friend's Church, yet in no sense are the requirements and restrictions of students denominational.

The Trustees extend the privilege of the institution with reasonable charge for tuition, to all persons of either sex, who are qualified for admission and bear a reputation of good moral character. It cannot be the patron of idleness or dissipation and therefore its classes are not open to any except those who assiduously pursue the studies of their choice and are willing to be governed in their conduct by the rules of propriety.

Students not in their places at the opening of school each morning must present sufficient excuse for the delay. Such delinquencies as tardiness, absence, deficiencies, offences against good order in the Academy will be dealt with by the teacher in charge. Students may be suspended or dismissed whenever it is the opinion of the principal they are pursuing a course of conduct seriously detrimental to themselves or to the Academy. Attendance is required at the opening devotional exercises each morning, which consist of scripture reading, silent or vocal prayer, songs of praise, talks and readings of moral and religious interest.

GRADUATION.

Examination in the different studies will be given at the close of each term, and a grade of 70 per cent. for each study and general average of 80 per cent. will be required for graduation in the English, Latin or Grammar courses.

A grade of 90 per cent. for each review study, and an average of 92 per cent. together with a Teachers' License from a county superintendent, will be required for graduation in the Teachers' course.

Students who receive a recitation average of 95 per cent., (in any study), for any term of school, will be exempt from the examination, provided such students shall have as good a grade in attendance, in punctuality, and in deportment.

Academy Certificates are granted to those students who have satisfactorily completed each course: Certificates of Promotion from Grammar school course; Academy Diplomas for the English, Latin or Teachers's.

These Certificates, together with explanation of work performed, will be good as far as they go, at Earlham College, Wabash College, DePauw, Butler, Purdue and State Universities without further examination.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

The Crescent Literary Society sustained by teachers and students affords good opportunity for frequent exercise in literary work. Students of Intermediate, Senior and Teachers' classes will be required to take active part in the society or perform equivalent extra work.

A Boys' Debating Club was also in successful operation during the winter.

Rhetorical exercises and essays required from each student.

Commencement week affords opportunity to those graduating in the several courses to present original work in composition and receive drill in Oratory.

At the close of the Winter Term, as an encouragement to good delivery, a public contest in Declamation is given by students in Academy Department, and prizes are offered by the Principal.

Academy representatives will also take part in an Inter-academic Oratorical and Declamatory Contest each year.

The successful Central Academy contestants this year were Charles L. Jessup in oratory and Eleanor Hanna in declamation, who also received the honors and prizes in the contest between three Academies of the Friends' Church.

GENERAL ITEMS.

Students should bring the text books they have.

Books and stationery can be secured at the book stores in Plainfield.

At least two essays or equivalent literary work will be required of a student during each term of school.

It is expected that students will spend at least one hour each evening in study at their homes or boarding places.

The use of tobacco in any form on the school premises is forbidden.

Students are held accountable for bad conduct at lectures, literary societies, or entertainments held by the Academy.

A reasonable charge will be made for defacing or injuring school property.

Whenever a student enters school, it is taken as a pledge on his part to obey faithfully all the rules and regulations; but only such regulations are adopted as are calculated to promote the best interests of the school.
