May 30. 1927-

Decorations day was properly begun with the attendance of members of the Y. M. C. and the American Legion. attending a Patriotic service held in the chapel of the J. B. S. A very excellent and interesting programme was given. Consisting of vocal and instrumental music. recitations and sketches. given by the inmates of the prison. Arator Blake as the speaker for the occasion. delivered a talk that to say was good only partially expresses its value. To the boys of the J. B. S. his words of advice and counsel were that of a man whose heart is filled with interest in the boys of America. his tribute to the flag. and to those who have labored in its defence was equally heartfelt language and the sentiment of a true American citizen. It is not saying too much in his praise, to praise that Arator Blake is destined to meet fame and honor as his just due.

At 1.30 Pm a parade led by the J. B. S. band and caets. followed by the G. A. R. and Legions and other patriotic organizations marched to Maple Hill cemetery. where a large audience had been waiting to listen to the annual Patriotic services of the day which consisted of an invocation by the Rev. Martin Wiggins. the reading of names and a short talk by Rev. Watters that was of inspiration and interesting. Taps by the bugler from the J. B. S. and placing flowers in the graves of the soldiers of our who sleep in this beautiful cemetery.

 alive in the minds and hearts of the Comrade the grand spirit of Comrade's inspired and manifested throughout the four long years of service as soldiers in preserving the principles and institutions for which the glorious stars and stripes stand for them of us who have been permitted to participate and enjoy the blessing so dearly over looked to all Americans - through the victory achieved by the shielding of the West and the lives of the thousands of our Comrade on the battle fields of Chilo - Oriskany - Antietam Gettysburg and the many other battles of blood and carnage. - Should we shrink in our hearts the sacred memory of their supreme sacrifice - the great heroes rearing from the victory of these American boys. are to stay being enjoyed among Americans. who seemingly are unmindful of the cost of their blessings.

It is a happy reality that the stars and flag floats over a united country. - Shine honoring the memory of those of our comrades who sleep beneath the soil of their last camping ground.

 So on this 30th of May - we gathered with our wives to perform this solemn duty - by raising above them the flag they loved so well and partaking their graves with countless flowers - It is fitting that we thus honor their memory.
 With the passing of three years - as they have come and gone - our numbers have been made less. write to stay only about twenty thousand remain to perform this duty - therefore soon other hearts and other hands must appear and carry on this great work.

In the words of Burgard Kipling - we command them to engrave on their hearts

"God of our fathers Honor thy dead, for of our fathers for thy battle line Bravest whom our feet have in their dominion over palm and pine - Lead not

Three comrades of Regie H Lyon Post 186-8.A.Q met at the room of Comrade Johnson on the above date. It being the regular date of the monthly meeting of the Post. Comrade Douglas - Raydon

- Johnson. There is sometimes great reasons prevent comrades attending Post meetings but no Comrade should willfully absent himself continuously from attending. As some comrades are doing thereby liable to be dropped from our roayment of dues. The department Commander in his announce report shows that Posts maintain their organization as long as two or three comrades are living. These present pledges themselves to comply to this request by their regular attendance - The failure to take interest in the Post - and acting is evidence of their not appreciating a program which of brotherhood and the obligations around the altar we get and the fast passing away of our comrades should cause the living to take greater interest in our grand organization - Those comrades who served faithfully their term of enlistment as - the furrier - cannot forgive the City of Commodore to turn our little Post - meetings and their happy hours of life. May 30-1929. Decoration Day - Remarks of Brig. Gen. Gen. G. B. A. were invited to attend the usual Patriotic services at the G. B. S. The following remarks were made. Rev. W. E. Johnson, the program was an excellent one. Singing - Benediction - Music was very fine. The reactions by a select number of the sisters was well defined and very appropriate - a great reaction by Mr. W. E. Johnson. and commendation by the Methodist Minister. Indeed the services. Decoration of the graves of those who have passed away as inmates of the school was a very impressive ceremony. participated in by the entire school - and witnessed by the many visitors who take an interest in the school. The influence this Patriotic service will in the future bring of many of these boys - will no doubt go far in shaping their conduct as worthy American citizens.
